

It was 3:00 am and it was the night before halloween.

Kylie was in the middle of the forest, dead bodies everywhere, running as fast as she could because there was a creature after her. All of a sudden she slipped and fell, tumbling, and rolling on the ground. She got up and frantically looked around for anywhere she could hide. This animal is not just any ordinary animal, but whatever this animal is, it is after her.

The creature sniffed and sniffed trying to find her scent, it's claws were so sharp it could cut a tree in a snap, it's long tongue with icky, gooey, slobber, and teeth as sharp as a knife.

Kylie panicked, she had no idea what to do, so, instead of hiding behind the tree waiting for this creature to go, she moved and broke a branch.

The creature looked at her with it's BIG red eyes. And started to chase her.

Kylie ran as fast as her legs could go, left leg to right leg over and over, her heart was pumping as fast as a rollercoaster. Then she spotted a cabin and ran to it, when she got there she closed the door and put wood in front of the door to keep it closed. However, she knew the door would not hold forever and she quickly looked everywhere to try and find a weapon to defend herself. She found a hammer and knew this would come in handy, BOOM!!!!!!

The door flung open and it hit Kylie in the leg leaving a HUGE scrape on her side, she quickly ran out the window and tried to run, but that only made her scrape worse.

She was screaming in pain and the creature heard her screams , and slowly sniffed, till the creature got closer. Kylie did not even dare to move, she just stayed in place breathing heavily. When she realised she still had her hammer but she can not fight with a huge scrape on her leg, she started to climb the tree she was hiding behind, then when she was about to drop the hammer on the mysterious creature she saw a bee hive, and she used the hammer to hit the hive so it can fall on the mysterious animal, even though she was getting stung so many times, she still kept hitting it till it fell, and when it did, it hit the creature, and went it off wimping. Even though the creature left, Kylie got stung too many times that she fainted, and woke up the next morning at 6:30 am. Kylie was still stuck in the forest, Kylie's scrape got even worse she could not move her leg and it felt numb, all of her bee stings on her face, and neck swelled into big, red, round, puffs. Now Kylie was in serious danger, and badly injured. She sat in the tree for a while before a mommy bird saw her and started to shake around and started to drop her dropping, apparently Kylie was next to a birds nest with eggs in it, so Kylie moved tree branches, but the tree branch she was on could not support her weight and Kylie fell to the ground and passed out. When she woke up, a weird slobber was falling from the sky and there the creature stood, and now that it was day time Kylie got a closer look to see what this mysterious creature was, it looked like a T-Rex, but with red eyes and sharper claws.

"Eewwww," said Kylie with a gross face.

"What is this?" asked Kylie. Kylie looked up and screamed at the top of her lungs. She immediately got to her feet. But her leg was hurting so badly that when she tried to get up, she fell back to the ground. There was no hope for Kylie. Until she realized that she still had her hammer.

“HEY BIG GUY DOWN HERE I’M NOT SCARED OF YOU,” Kylie yelled as she stood up bravely. And there the T-rex stood, and with all her might and power she threw the hammer and it hit the T-rex’s eye. Blood gushed everywhere, as the T-rex roared through the forest as the tree’s shook, and the ground rumbled. Now the T-rex was REALLY ANGRY.

The T-rex grabbed Kylie's leg, and it grabbed the leg with the scrape and threw Kylie to the ground. Now Kylie was really injured, as she screamed loudly enough to break your eardrums, and glass. Kylie cried and screamed non stop, her screams were too loud, for the T-rex to handle and he ran away. Kylie lay there, pale, but she couldn’t just stay there so Kylie got up, grabbed her hammer and went off to hunt. Kylie was really hungry, she had not eaten in two days. She went out to get food. When she had made her fire, she went to the river to find fish. After Kylie caught some fish, she also drank some water and then went back to camp to cook. Kylie was peaceful eating her food when out of nowhere the T-rex fell from the sky. Kylie stood up, feeling energized she threw her hammer again at the T-rex and this time it hit it’s leg.

“ Gotcha, now you know how I feel when you grab my leg,” Kylie said. Before the T-rex could get up Kylie quickly made a cast for her leg using branches and leaves, and grabbed a stick. the T-rex had the strength to stand up and it looked at Kylie showing its big teeth.

But Kylie was not scared, she stood up strong, took her hammer and ran back to the forest away from the T-rex, but the T-rex chased her with difficulty because of the high trees. Next thing you know Kylie is gone. The T-rex was so confused. Kylie was climbing a tree and then landed on the T-rex back and hit the T-rex head with the hammer. She tumbled to her feet then ran as fast as she could, the T-rex road but Kylie did not care and kept on running, escaping the forest. People say the forest is haunted, and whoever goes there never comes out, but Kylie is one lucky survivor.